The Committee recommended for reducing the customs duty on petrol/diesel to 7.5% from 10% and shift over in the pricing basis to trade parity in the ratio of 80% import parity and 20% export parity. It also recommended restructuring of excise duty at specific rates on petrol/diesel to avoid cascading effect of increase in selling prices.

Based on the recommendations of Dr. Rangarajan Committee, the Government has reduced the customs duties on petrol & diesel to 7.5% and change in pricing basis to trade parity. These changes have been implemented w.e.f. 16.6.06. Further, Domestic LPG was made 'Declared Goods' effective 20.4.2006 resulting in reduction in maximum sales tax to 4%.
